Tour Fell's Point ART LOOP on December 9, 2-5pm.

Michael Chandler www.JMichaelChandler.com

A NY-based painter who lost his MD home and studio to Hurricane Agnes, Michael exhibits frequently in Baltimore, and speaks of his art as 'memory keys' to 'open a doorway allowing thoughts buried by time and circumstances to be re-experienced.'

Scott Cawood www.cawoodart.com

A found object sculptor who exhibited and collected nationally, his work is currently on view at Maryland Art Place in the "Altered Realities" exhibition. Scott's studio is in historic Antietam MD and opens to the public monthly on First Saturday.

Nadine Chien www.hubstartart.com

A licensed patent attorney with a Ph.D. in molecular immunology who has always ventured down arts and crafts paths. Nadine has recently concentrated her attention on creating intricate mosaic "wreaths" on found hubcaps in her Annapolis home studio.

Vicki McComas www.vickimccomas.com

An urban folk artist and institution in Fell's Point, Vicki graduated from MICA in 1978. She teaches at the Potters' Guild of Maryland and her work deals with her dreams and fantasies, and legends and stories that bring laughter and warmth to others.

Laura Vernon Russell www.lifeformsmedicinedolls.com

The natural world is always the inspiration for Laura's work which reflects an obsession and investigates in her encaustics, felted and mixed media pieces the mysteries of nature and its energies.

Jo Van Wely JoVW@VanWely.com

Jo's handcrafted jewelry is cast in silver or re-purposed from unusual objects and has a touch of nostalgia. From her member's bench at the Baltimore Jewelry Center, she also creates charms to celebrate Baltimore and its history.

Sue Wrbican www.SueWrbican.com

Her photographs and installations—an extensive artistic exploration inspired by Kay Sage—is currently on view at the Greater Reston Art Center in VA. Sue teaches in the School of Art at George Mason University and lives in Washington DC.

James Younger <https://jwyonger.smugmug.com>

A lifetime of scientific exploration hones Jim's use of photography to create images seemingly displaced in perspective and time, perhaps to pull the veil of reality back, to get a glimpse of what's underneath, to go beyond the shadows to what is casting them.

Patty Burns pattyburnsstylist@me.com

Building layers of color and texture is Patty's primary goal, whether as a stylist and costumer on film projects or as a mixed media artist. By layering resin she is able to create pieces of depth that cast shadows for an added dimension.

A delightful array of artists and artwork perfectly timed for holiday gift giving and getting!
